

Possible Choice of Topic

To begin thinking of topics I am thinking what my interests are. I must be dedicated and motivated to my practical-based research for an outstanding result. I am interested in Spirituality and possibly could explore how sound is used during rituals. Researching the acoustics of a room, resistance, instrumentation and cultural context provides plenty of initial scope and this sets me on a good path in future I would continue to explore the connection and relationship between sound and spirituality. Another spiritual concept I like to research would be the relationship between sound and the full moon...

I am interested in car radios with little knowledge about the subject I would love to learn more however this would be a more hands-on experience and be great for element 2.

Furthering my knowledge about sound in cinema would further my goal of working in the cinema industry one day. This idea potentially benefits the collaboration unit if I were to choose to collaborate with a film student.

In conclusion, these 3 ideas are equally as exciting as each other however I am still undecided. I am favouring spiritual sound a more risky but exciting project to create. I will continue to brainstorm and eventually decide.
